

Wichita Daily Eagle

M. M. MURDOCK, Editor.

Chief Justice Royce, of the Vermont supreme court, didn't want to die with his official boots on, and so resigned. He is 70 years old.

The Wichita Eagle wants congress to pass a law restricting foreign immigration to this country.—Kansas City Gazette.

That's right. And as to the character of immigrants referred to, aren't you?

Speaking of abbreviations, the Boston Transcript suggests that a good abbreviation for Alaska would be L. S., as everybody knows, means the place of the seal.

The Democratic papers of Kansas keep continually harping about the demoralized Republican party of Kansas. We don't know that this is any particular consolation, but there is not enough of the Democratic party left to be demoralized. The very hole through which it disappeared has dwindled into nothing.

Dick Blue is up at Topeka talking for Funston for governor of Kansas two years hence. The Honorable Richard is doubtless contemplating the vacancy in congress which would ensue and he would like to fill. The people don't want Funston for governor nor do we believe that the people of the second district want Mr. Dick Blue in congress.

These temperance drinks are dangerous; a ginger ale bottle exploded at Tacoma, one day last summer, severely injuring the hand of one George Mack, who now swears the owner of the bottle for $5,000. It is safer, perhaps, to stick to whisky, as a steady thing, and safest to drink it out of the lung hole, except at Leavenworth; that town is always excepted when it comes to spirituous indulgence.

Ex-Governor Cumback, of Indiana, believes without exception Kansas is the best state in the union. "I have been in every state but Texas, traveling on my lecturing tour," said he "and when I express such opinions I do it advisedly. In general topography, natural and varied resources, nature has endowed Kansas most lavishly." Mr. Cumback is a gentleman and scholar. Come back again, Mr. Cumback, and stay longer.

In general order No. 7, headquarters department of Kansas, G. A. R., appears the following paragraph: "The last legislature failed to make sufficient appropriation for the maintenance of the Orphan's home at Atchison, where so many soldiers' orphans have found a home. The department commander would, therefore, urge upon the comrades the propriety of remembering these little ones when they go to make up their holiday gifts. Let us gladden the hearts of these orphans by liberal donations of every useful and pleasing to childhood."

The notification given by Prof. Koch to the German government that it must provide the lymph for treating the public under his consumption cure discovery indicates that he means to give that portion of the world, at least, the benefit of the discovery. And his proposition is altogether reasonable and the proper thing to do. The great importance of the discovery to the human race, if it shall prove efficacious, renders it next to imperative that the governments provide the people with it free or at so small a price that all who require it may have it and without delay.

Prof. Charles N. Thornburg, professor of engineering at the Vanderbilt university, Nashville, has located the comet which was first seen from Columbus, Italy, November 15. He says that he telegraphed Harvard college, and that he received a reply that he was the first astronomer in America to discover it. The location of the comet is as follows: Its right ascension is 33 degrees, 16 seconds and its declination is 33 degrees and 57 seconds north. It is the comet "E" of 1890, and will be visible from the earth for several months and will probably be visible to the naked eye before long. As it is now the nucleus are visible.

Blaine is now the most popular man in the Republican party and will doubtless be the G. O. P. nominee for president in 1892. His popularity at this time is largely due to the fact that he has repudiated the principle plank in the platform upon which Harrison was elected two years ago.—Boston.

You see there is where you are wrong again. Mr. Blaine did not and does not repudiate the platform of his party of 1888; he simply interprets it as the masses of the people did that year and as they mean now that it shall be interpreted and lived up to. The only thing repudiated is the contrary construction put upon the platform and the fellows who did it.

A famine is prevailing in Western Nebraska, the people are leaving that part of the state and the governor and other officials have taken action to afford relief. Does it not seem unreasonable that these conditions should exist in a high license commonwealth which has been boasting of the material and which it derives from the saloon?—Norton Republican.

If the prevalence of saloons in Nebraska had anything to do with bringing about the distressing conditions in the western part of that state, as the Republicans state, inferentially, what prevents the same conditions from prevailing throughout the state? And how did it happen that the absence of saloons did not prevent a similar state of case in portions of Western Kansas during the past three or four years? Such poppy-cock is very irksome.

Wm. P. St. John, president of the Mercantile National bank, of New York, ascribes the recent flurry and present strained situation, to tight money. The action of the clearing house, he says, and there is no possible danger of a bank panic, as any bank which is solvent can avail itself of the accommodation offered by securing certificates to any amount desired. The commercial situation is excellent, and business looks brighter all around the country. Money is so tied up in large business ventures that it has become a scarce commodity, and this fact, no doubt, led to the ultimate demoralization of Wall street. The squeeze has been relieved, however, he says, and we may look for brighter times.

THE STATE CHARITIES.

The state board of charities, which has been in session for the past three days, finished its work today.

Treasurer Stodler made his settlement for October with the secretary today. The current expenses for the various institutions for the month were as follows:
